This looks great! I like the integration of photos and text. No comments from me.

Subject: Rick's narrative in a Powerpoint format for the web

I took a bit of artistic license in the layout to add visual interest for the web. Please review and let me know of any changes or edits. The text is the final copy that everyone commented on in late June. I added quite a few additional pictures and modified some of the captions. The web team said that they should be able to post it on Monday.
